Participation conditions:

- To be the main author of the submitted publication.
- To perform a research work (theoretical or applied) leading to better understanding of the brain, particularly through the use of computer tool or innovative analysis methods.

The submitted project must have been accomplished in Switzerland and have led to a good-standard scientific publication, still to be published or published for two years at the most.

- To be under 35 years of age.

Submission of applications

Total confidentiality of the applications is guaranteed.

Applications, CVs and other documents will only be accepted in French or English. The application form should be completed and returned with the CV and relevant documents, by e-mail only.

The application deadline is 30th June 2016. No late application will be accepted and the decision will be final.

Application review

A scientific jury composed of independent experts (see page «Scientific Board» on the website <http://vascosanz-fund.com>), decides which project is the best and this choice is validated by the VASCO SANZ FUND. Irrelevant applications will not be taken into consideration, and this will be a final decision.

Applicants will be informed by email by September.

Prize-giving:

A financial award of 2'500.- Swiss Francs will be awarded for the selected project in November 2016. The laureate(s) will be personally informed and would have to attend the prize ceremony.
